

FIU Veterans and Small Farmers Outreach Program Basic Beekeeping

Have you ever wanted to learn about bees, get inside a beehive and learn how it all works? Have you considered introducing bees to your farm? If so, you are in luck! The Veterans and Small Farmers Outreach Program is proud to offer this FREE workshop:

August 20th, 2016

9:00am - 1:00pm

22200 SW 152nd Ave.
Miami, FL 33170

Join us as FIU's own Michael Pischner shares his experience as a beekeeper along with some important information on bee morphology and life cycle; hive construction and materials; and important safety tips. You will get the opportunity to work with a live hive and visit a honey extraction and processing facility!

Limited availability and registration is required. To RSVP, please email nidelaro@fiu.edu. For future workshop schedule or more information call us at 305-348-0186 or visit:

agroecology.fiu.edu/programs/vesfo

This opportunity is made possible by the USDA office of Advocacy and Outreach (59-2501-15-011)